BICC (Bonn International Center for Conversion) deals with global topics in the field of peace and conflict research.

Problems of organised violence lie at the heart of its Conversion Studies. Its themes range from the (de)mobilisation of violent actors, arms exports and small arms control, to the meaning of organised violence for global migration and the use of natural resources.

BICC carries out trans-disciplinary, applied research, which lays the foundation for its policy advice and contributions to public debates.

BICC conducts field research on conflict resources: Under harsh working conditions, women in Côte d’Ivoire dig for gold.

Portfolio

CONDUCTS EMPIRICAL RESEARCH
BICC looks into phenomena of organised violence with various different methods that range from field research to discourse analysis to remote sensing. In its field research, BICC co-operates closely with local partners.

WORKS LOCALLY
BICC has unique experience in providing technical advice for small arms control and disarmament, demobilisation and reintegration processes in post-conflict countries. It makes such experience available by sending short and long-term experts to countries affected by armed conflict—such as in the conflict region of Sahel–Maghreb.

GIVES POLICY ADVICE
Arms exports and global militarisation are topics of research that are highly relevant to policy-makers. BICC offers its expertise through its Global Militarisation Index (GMI) and arms exports databases. Researchers at BICC are also sought after for recommendations on small arms control, base conversion or the conversion of the arms industry. Furthermore, BICC is co-editor of the annual Peace Report (Friedensgutachten) which analyses important developments in global conflict.

INFORMS THE PUBLIC
With its publications, events and interactive websites, such as the online portal securitpolicy.bpb.de, BICC also aims at reaching the public and the media with well-based facts and analyses on war and peace. The Center comments on current political debates and promotes dialogue with civil society.

BICC supports demobilisation processes:
Former soldier is taught metal work at Mapel Transition Facility, South Sudan.

BICC researches pathways to peace:
A tribal assembly in Paktia, Afghanistan.
